THOUGHT and COMMENT

BEAUTY

"Our City Beautiful," is a line that could be stressed with a great deal of pride, if an organized attempt were made to correct certain little things that are now making many beautiful spots here an eyesore.

Down in the heart of the city next to a building which practically every person in the city visits, at least once a week and many every day, is an apartment house. The architecture of the building is such that its beauty is greatly enhanced by creeping vines of honeysuckle, which cover the large porch and entrance to the building.

BUT the lot immediately adjacent to this apartment house is vacant—except for an abundant growth of weeds, which are about three feet in height. Five minutes with a scythe would correct the situation there.

Out in the East Richmond district where we have acres and acres of the "great open spaces," where the lots are owned by residents from the Mexican border to the Canadian line and where blocks and blocks of streets and sidewalks dot the landscape, except for the beautiful trenches and holes dug by the various utility companies the ranchers of San Pablo and vicinity are harvesting a big crop of hay.

They are choicy however for they have deftly driven the mowers around the large patches of weeds that might not agree with bossy's digestive apparatus. They have also left the grass standing in the parkings, because it would take a little trouble to get at it. In a few weeks the weeds will dry and start drooping across the side walks and the residents will be taking to the middle of the streets like they did last year.

Last spring we suggested a contest of some kind, conducted by the organizations that have as their objective the improvement of Richmond and its development.

In spite of the fact that that aviation is a popular sport at the present time we have not as yet reached the stage when we can reach the top of the ladder by jumping to the top rung. We must climb that ladder rung by rung and our ascent will be determined by the support we get from the weakest rung. Richmond's weakest rung at the present time is the conditions of some of the streets and the unimproved sections. A little thought and just a small amount of effort on the part of the citizens would correct this evil and give the city an appearance that would justify a demand for its further development.

WESTERN RAILROADS ASK 5% RAISE IN RATES

HEARING ON INCREASE TO START TODAY

Freight Rates on All Lines West Of Mississippi River are Included in Boost Asked

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, May 18.—One of the most important railroad rate cases in the history of the country, affecting freight rates on all railroads west of Chicago and the Mississippi river, will be fought before the Interstate Commerce Commission beginning tomorrow.

The railroads are demanding a five per cent increase in rates on all classes of freight farming interests are fighting for a sweeping reduction of rates on farm products and live stock. The investigation made by the commission in this case will be extended to the rest of the country.

Seventy witnesses will be heard in the next ten days. The full commission will hear the arguments, with representatives of about ten state railway commissions.

Vital issues to be decided by the commission are:

Can rates on farm products and live stock be reduced to the 1918 level, as demanded by the corn belt committee and the American Farm Bureau Federation, without inviting the "ruin" of railroads which the carriers declare would follow?

Shall the roads be given the new rate boost of five per cent, which they assert is necessary to enable them to earn a reasonable profit, and which the farmers declare spells "ruin" for them?

Should the five and three quarter per cent "fair return" fixed by congress be "guaranteed" to all railroads by revising rates until all are earning this percentage on their property values?

Shall railroads of the north-west be allowed a special increase of about ten percent, instead of five, because of the poverty alleged by their security holders?

Former Secretary of State Charles Evans Hughes is expected to support this last proposal. He will argue the vital need of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad for more revenues, as counsel for its receivers, bankers and officials of this road under fire in the commission's investigation into the causes of its bankruptcy, have charged that the commission itself was responsible because it refused to authorize rates which would yield a profit.

Iron Mountain Mich, Forest Fires Rage

(By Universal Service)
IRON MOUNTAIN, Mich., May 18.—Some of the worst forest fires in years are raging in out-over lands in the vicinity of Channing, Witch Lake and other points near here. Much farm property, buildings and valuable timber lie in the path of the flames and may be destroyed unless rain comes soon or fire fighters check the spread of the fires. Farmers are preparing to leave the burned districts if the situation becomes serious.

Matson Exonerated On Shortage Charge

(By Universal Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, May 18.—Walter J. Matson, official of the Honolulu Plantation Company charged with grand larceny in connection with an alleged shortage in his company's books, was acquitted in Judge Fred J. Treat's court here late this afternoon. Judge Treat instructed the jury to return a verdict of not guilty which they did after retiring for five minutes' deliberation. Ira N. Moore and George R. Braun, jointly accused with Matson, were also acquitted.

Marshal Pilsudski, Hero Of Poles, Leads Revolt, Takes Warsaw in Battle

Marshal Joseph Pilsudski, Poland's military hero, led a revolt which was reported to have resulted in the capture of Warsaw by his troops. Political unrest preceded the revolution. Pilsudski's strength lies in the personal support of the fanatically patriotic army officers' corps which he developed in the Polish Legions.

ABANDON WAR ON PILSUDSKI

By ROBERT J. PREW

Special Cable to Universal Service.

LONDON, May 18.—The British Foreign Office has been informed that Gen. Haller, commander of the Polish troops in the Posen district, has abandoned his contemplated attack on Warsaw now completely under control of Gen. Pilsudski.

Gen. Haller has disbanded his troops, the foreign office learns, and sent them home, declaring that it is now too late for his move to be successful.

The British foreign office anticipates that Count Skryminski, former premier, will be elected president to succeed President Wojciechowski, who handed his resignation to the victorious Marshal Pilsudski.

San Francisco Elks Lodge Will Observe Its Golden Jubilee

(By Universal Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, May 18.—Twenty thousand members of Elks lodges throughout California, Oregon, Washington and Nevada, are expected to attend the Golden Jubilee celebration of San Francisco Lodge No. 3, which will be held at the auditorium from May 31 to June 5.

The occasion will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of San Francisco Lodge which is the third oldest lodge of the order.

An invitation has been extended Grand Exalted Ruler Atwell, Dallas, Texas, to attend the celebration. Elks lodges in Oakland, Los Angeles, Sacramento, San Diego, Reno, Portland and other Pacific coast cities will send delegations.

A pageant "Treasure Island" with a cast of one thousand persons will be one of the principal features of the jubilee.

Returns in Election in State
Of Pennsylvania

(By Universal Service)
PHILADELPHIA, May 18.—On the basis of returns received from all parts of the state up to midnight, Philadelphia has voted wet and anti-world court and selected representative William S. Vare, machine boss of Philadelphia as its Republican nominee for U. S. senator.

Senator George Wharton Pepper who voted for American membership in the World Court is running second with Governor Gifford Pinchot third.

Vare, who is for light wines and beer and made that his paramount issue, surprised even his most enthusiastic supporters when he swept even the Independents and aristocratic wards of Philadelphia.

VARE CLAIMS VICTORY
PHILADELPHIA, May 18.—Congressman Vare's managers at 1 o'clock this morning claimed nomination for the United States Senate by the Republicans by a plurality, throughout the state, of 200,000.

SEVENTY JAILED FOR SPEEDING

(By Universal Service)

LOS ANGELES, May 18.—Continuing his campaign against motorists who exceed speed limits in the city, Municipal Judge Joseph F. Chambers today sent more than seventy to jail. Two men were given sixty days each for racing on a public highway at forty miles an hour.

Twenty traffic law violators went on a "speeders strike" and demanded jury trials.

There are 400 traffic cases on Judge Chambers' calendar tomorrow. If the judge follows his usual custom of jail sentences the city battle will be filled to overflowing.

Vollmer Offered Post in Cuba

(By Universal Service)

BERKELEY, Calif., May 18.—August Vollmer, organizer of the Berkeley "Scientific Police" today received an invitation from the Cuban government to reorganize the Cuban government police.

The invitation was extended in behalf of the Cuban secretary of the interior by Gabriel A. Deamann, Cuban Consul in San Francisco.

Vollmer, who went to Los Angeles three years to reorganize that city's department, accepted the post with permission of the Berkeley city council.

"QUEEN" CITED FOR SPEEDING

PINOLE, May 18.—Miss Gertrude Isleton, Queen of the Delta Land, was cited by traffic officer Charles Nissen to appear before Justice of the Peace William F. Terry here on a charge of speeding. According to the officer, Miss Bryan was doing 50 miles an hour on a Contra Costa highway a few days ago.

A. P. Moore Guest At White House

WASHINGTON, May 18.—President Coolidge conferred today with Alexander P. Moore of Pennsylvania, former American Ambassador to Spain. Moore is a house guest at the executive mansion, following an extended tour through the west and a survey of political conditions there.

Medal Contest Of W. C. T. U. Is Postponed

County Officers of W. C. T. U.
Are Named at Convention of Body Held Here

Because a sufficient number of contestant did not compete in the medal contest held by the W. C. T. U. at the Contra Costa county convention last night in the First Christian church, the medals were not awarded but will probably be competed for at a future date. Illness of some of the members prevented them from attending the session and only two women delivered their speeches. Mrs. Edwin Dearborn of San Pablo and Mrs. S. S. French gave readings from a W. C. T. U. publication which were appreciated by the members gathered for the contest.

Attorney Ernest E. Williams of San Francisco, assistant United States attorney under George Hatfield, delivered the principal address at the luncheon held in the church.

Speaking on "Law Enforcement," he declared that the supreme court would never permit a repeal of the Volstead Act because it would be in violation of the constitution. The amendment can not be done away with, he stated, because it requires only the vote of thirteen states to hold the amendment in tact.

He scored crime conditions in the United States and declared that although this country is the most powerful nation in the world, it is also the most lawless. Crime, he stated, is draining the nation and told the members that there have been more people murdered than have been killed in all of the wars.

During the morning session, election of officers for the ensuing year was held. Those elected are: president, Rev. Laura Townsend of Martinez; vice-president, Dr. Mary Palm of Antioch; corresponding secretary, Dr. Nellie Love, of Danville, recording secretary, Mrs. Lucetta Dunlap of Richmond and treasurer, Mrs. Winger of Oakley. The newly elected officers were installed during the afternoon session by Mrs. Addie Garwood Estes, state president of the organization.

The ladies of Richmond union were hostesses to the delegates from the other unions who included:

EVANGELIST IS BELIEVED TO HAVE LOST LIFE

Disappears From View of Companion While Bathing on Beach Near Santa Monica

(By Universal Service)
SANTA MONICA, Cal., May 18.—Almee Semple McPherson, famous woman evangelist is believed to have been drowned while bathing in the surf here late today.

The disappearance of Mrs. McPherson in the breakers was reported to the police shortly after 4 o'clock by Miss Schaefer, a companion, who motored here from Los Angeles with the evangelist today.

After a thorough search of the beach by life guards, assisted by an airplane from Clover Field the police reported tonight that Mrs. McPherson had probably lost her life in the surf and her body taken to sea by the undertow.

Mrs. McPherson and her companion registered today at the Ocean View Hotel, where they changed their clothes and donned bathing suits.

Miss Schaefer told investigators that she saw Mrs. McPherson apparently in difficulty and struggling in the breakers. Her attention was distracted for a moment. When she looked again Mrs. McPherson had disappeared.

Tonight, according to the police, Miss Schaefer returned to Los Angeles with Mrs. McPherson's belongings and notified her mother of her daughters probable death.

Mrs. McPherson had but recently returned from a tour of Europe and the Holy Land.

TORNADO HITS HARVEY ILL.

(By Universal Service)

CHICAGO, May 18.—An air mail pilot was killed and more than a hundred homes wrecked when a cyclone struck Harvey, Illinois tonight.

The pilot was Ross Kirkpatrick, flying to Chicago with mail from Detroit. His plane was caught in the storm and dashed to earth.

The storm came out of the southwest with terrific force. The town of Harvey a Chicago suburb was in its path. A score of homes were wrecked and many others damaged. Only one person, an eight year old girl, was reported seriously injured.

A deluge of hail and rain followed the sweep of the wind. The storm struck Chicago at 6 o'clock tonight but caused only little damage.

Storm conditions prevailed throughout Illinois and extended into Iowa, Missouri, Wisconsin and Indiana.

CLAMPITT QUIZ IS NEARING END

(By Universal Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, May 18.—Investigation by army authorities in the trip which Captain Oroville I. Clampitt, chaplain, made to Santa Cruz with a young married woman, will be completed tomorrow and will then be given to General Harry Todd, commander of the Ninth Corps Area for action.

This announcement was made today by Col. W. R. Standford, chief of staff.

Clampitt married and the father of four small children, was recently acquitted at the Presidio here on courtmartial charges made by Lucille Swallow, Kansas City beauty parlor attendant.

Clampitt is now stationed at Vancouver Barracks, Wash.

A week after his acquittal Clampitt and a young married woman motored to Santa Cruz. Both registered at a hotel under the name of "Jones." They occupied separate rooms, and, according to the hotel attaches, were never seen together during their stay.

ESCAPED FROM GALLOWS BY A SMALL MARGIN

Was Convicted of Murder in
The First Degree in Shasta
County in 1921

Richmond authorities joined in a search of the entire Eastbay regions yesterday for Arthur Owen Davis, condemned murderer from Shasta county, who escaped from San Quentin prison late yesterday.

Officers made a complete search of the prison yards before giving out the word of his escape. Prison officials are mystified as to how the convict could have made his escape, and are not inclined to the theory that he is still hiding out within the walls of the prison.

Davis had been sentenced to hang, but his sentence was commuted to one of life imprisonment because of his age, following his conviction of murder in the first degree in the northern county in 1921, for the killing of an officer.

According to authorities of San Quentin, Davis is an extremely dangerous man and would not hesitate to kill. He is described as 23 years of age, five feet, nine inches in height, and weighs 158 pounds; ruddy complexion, eyes dark blue.

Davis was last checked in the prison at 11 o'clock yesterday morning and was seen by some of the prisoners at 12 o'clock, a few minutes later he stepped out of the gate mill where he was employed and has not been seen since.

Guards immediately began a search thinking that he might have "hid out" in some remote part of the prison. A chain guard was immediately thrown about the prison walls and authorities of the neighboring cities were notified.

At the time of his sentence Davis was under eighteen years of age and had his sentence of hanging commuted to one of life imprisonment.

Richmond authorities were watching all ferries leaving and entering Richmond and were keeping a close check on all roads which might be taken by the escaped convict.

San Francisco Hunts Lost Girl

(By Universal Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, May 18.—Firemen, citizens and Boy Scouts joined with the police in their search for Barbara June Osborn, 2, who disappeared under mysterious circumstances while on a shopping tour with her grandmother in a downtown department store on Saturday afternoon last.

Police expressed the belief that the pretty blue-eyed golden haired Barbara, may have been kidnapped by a woman with a "mother complex."

Tonight the child's picture was flashed on the screen in every motion picture theatre in the city. A description of Barbara was also broadcasted over the radio in an effort to find her. The San Francisco Call and Post, announced a reward of $100 for the recovery of the little girl.

Mrs. Joseph Altamirano, grandmother of little Barbara, was on the verge of collapse at her home.

ASKS ANNULMENT

Alleging that he was forced into marriage through fraud, Andrew Anderson of Richmond, through his attorney, Tarr Calfee, yesterday filed a suit for the annulment of his marriage to Mrs. Aileen Bond Anderson. According to the complaint, the marriage was performed on March 9 and the couple separated nine days later when the defendant refused to live with the plaintiff.

HEALTH CENTER TAKES CARE OF MANY VISITORS

According to the annual report of Mrs. Nora Purviance, director of the Richmond Health Center, 7,297 individuals made visits, totaling 9,674 to the center during the fiscal year, ending April 30.

The number of children examined during the pre-school examinations amounted to 168 and 155 children were given dental treatment. Vaccinations against smallpox and immunization against diphtheria were received by 1,095 persons.

Eight hundred and thirty-six persons visited the dental clinic a total of 1,259 visits.

There were 842 local and two general anesthetics given.

Minor operations performed amounted to 35 and there were 31 operations for the removal of tonsils and adenoids.

Under the heading of the work done by the workers the following items are listed:

Visits made by the social workers 893; nursing unit 1260 calls, staff physicians 219 visits—79 to the homes and 140 to hospitals. Seven hundred and fifty-six clinics were held, the medical staff gave 712 hours, 68 free treatments were given at the office, 59 cases were ineligible, 1516 conferences were held with patients, 22 volunteer workers assisted the center, giving 94 hours' service, paid workers spent 9360 hours in the

Harold Lloyd Is Coming to California Soon

Why is Harold Lloyd the idol of youth all over the world? They like him in England, France, Japan, Australia, Chile, Alaska and other far corners of the world, as well as the United States. Do you know why?

In the words of a well-known observer of the cinema, it's because "Lloyd's pictures are always morally clean." Any parent can take his or her child to a theatre when one of Harold's comedies is announced, and be sure that the child will not see anything which might tend to corrupt its morals!

There's a whole lot in that short paragraph. And it's as true as saying that two and two are four. Lloyd refuses to shoot a scene which is the least bit "off color." He knows at least fifty per cent of his audiences are composed of children, and he's aiming to please them.

Lloyd's latest picture is headed for the California Theatre, arriving on next Monday. It is entitled "For Heaven's Sake!" and records the story of a rich youth who falls in love with the daughter of an East Side missionary. Sam Taylor directed this Paramount release, with Jobyna Ralston providing most of the heart interest. It was produced by the Harold Lloyd Corporation.

Schaeffer Final Rites Tomorrow

Arrangements for the funeral services of Frederick Schaeffer 70, who died at his home, 234 Lexington street, El Cerrito Monday afternoon have been completed at the Wilson and Kratzer funeral parlors. The lodge of Odd Fellows will be in charge of the services which will be conducted from the Wilson and Kratzer chapel at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Schaeffer was a member of the Bay Cities lodge No. 71 I. O. O. F.

In addition to his widow Mrs. A. D. Schaeffer and two sons, Cuthbert P. and Harry W., both of San Francisco, the deceased is survived by a sister, Mrs. Lorraine Griffey of San Francisco.

Following the funeral rites tomorrow afternoon, cremation will follow at the Sunset View crematory.

Soldiers of South Visiting in France

Special Cable Dispatch PARIS, May 18.—The Richmond Light Infantry Blues, noted regiment of the southland, and the Connecticut footguards and Putnam Phalanx, famous New England fighting forces, paid homage today to France's unknown soldier. They placed a wreath on his tomb under the Arc De Triumphant.

Then they marched to the inter-allied club where Marshal Foch tendered them a reception, at which the United States Ambassador, Myron T. Herrick was one of the guests.

Ambassador Foch gave a reception in honor of the visiting soldiers at the American Embassy this afternoon.

Local Lions Put On Program for New Concord Den

Twenty-two members of the Richmond Den of Lions went to Concord yesterday to take charge of the luncheon of the newly-formed club in that town. Willard S. Pierce delivered the address of the day, choosing as his topic: "Friendship." Charles Donnelly was the chairman of the day.

Several solos were sung by Bert Carter and Ward McLauck and Carl Richards rendered several violin and piano selections. The meeting was a success and the Concord Lions expressed a vote of thanks for the program presented by the Richmond Lions.

The luncheon was held in the Hotel Concord and was well attended by the members of the new Den of Lions.

In Richmond, the local den held a luncheon for the members of the club who were unable to attend the meeting in Concord. No speaker was scheduled for the day. The time was devoted to the discussion of the Boy Scout movement.

H. H. Mylander sang several solos as the musical part of the informal program.

The next meeting of the Concord club will be in charge of Pittsburg Lions Den. The Walnut Creek and Berkeley clubs will each have a day on which they will present the programs and following these entertainments the new club will take charge of its own programs.

It is customary in the Lion's club for the older clubs to present programs for the benefit of the newly formed clubs until the latter become familiar with the routine work of the luncheons.

Mrs. Mary S. Curtis of 370 Forty second street, Oakland, was a visitor in Richmond yesterday, looking after her property interests.

NORMA DISHES OUT LAUGHS IN PICTURE "KIKI"

Norma Talmadge, usually associated with dignified, romantic roles, has turned comedienne in her latest First National picture, "Kiki," which comes to the California Theatre for two days, starting today. This is a peculiarization of the famous Belasco sage hit.

Miss Talmadge enacts the role of the devil-may-care wife who wants a taste of life—and gets it with a vengeance.

As a laugh provoker "Kiki" is said to be in a class by itself in its appeal to all classes, old and young. The situations are strictly of the 1926 vintage—that is, up to the minute.

The lovely Norma's new leading man is Ronald Colman, who, as a wealthy Paris theatre manager, takes "Kiki" into his heart, but discovers he has befriended a human paradox.

Other well-known players in the supporting cast are Gertrude Astor, Marc MacDermott, George K. Arthur, William Orlamond, Edwin Connelly, Frankie Darro and Mack Swain.

"Kiki" was made by Joseph M. Schenck and directed by Clarence Brown.

Other features on the same program include "Run Tin Can," a Christie comedy, featuring Neal Burns and Vera Steadman; "Marvels in Motion"; "International News"; and Larry Canelo at the organ.

"Remember the?" Well You Can See for Yourself

A marvellous reproduction of the tremendous flood which destroyed the Conemaugh Valley in 1889 is offered by "The Johnstown Flood," a melodrama of gripping power and great realism which comes to the Richmond Theatre, for two days, starting today.

The picture deals with the efforts of engineer Tom O'Day to awaken the owner of the dam to the fact that it is unsafe, his love affair with the wealthy contractor's daughter, and vain attempts to avert the disaster he knows is due. The film is alive with human interest and it may be doubted if the camera has ever before presented such a thrilling spectacle. George O'Brien, Florence Gilbert and Janet Gaynor are the featured players.

Other features on the same program include "Call a Cop," a Neal Burns comedy; "Prizma," the screen magazine.

Genoa Loses Famous Ghost

(By Universal Service)
ROME, May 18.—Genoa has lost the "ghost" that for many years attracted visitors to a very old house on the outskirts of the city.

Many American tourists have visited the place to be thrilled by the weird sounds that came from the cellar. The "ghost" defying all attempts at explanation, continued to do business, intermittently for years, taking a holiday during the summer months and warning his labors with the coming of autumn.

But the "ghost" is no more. It was discovered a few weeks ago, when one of these new-fangled engineers who insist that there must be a cause for everything, found the cause of the moanings in an old unused drain into which a joist of wood had so fallen as to form a "whistle."

WOMEN NOW WEAR HUSBY'S PRIZE CRAVAT

NEW YORK, May 18.—Wives used to say to their husbands: "That is a pretty necktie you have on this morning."

Today the husbands say to their wives over the coffee and eggs: "That is a peach of a cravat you have on today. Would you mind giving it back to me without any noodles down the front?"

Thrifty husbands have taken to hiding their foulard neckties. Brides show a sudden lively interest in the visible supply of neckwear and urge upon husbands the necessity of bigger and better cravats.

The craze for tailored outfits brings with it the mannish soft collar shirt and four-in-hand necktie. Some of the women wear waistcoats and others repudiate such an additional burden. At any rate, the casualties among the neckties are numerous. The Peter Pan collars that the women wear on their shirt-waists are given a jaunty note by the bright patterns noted in the foulard neckties the men wear. The business of encouraging husbands to give greater attention to neckwear is part of the daily ritual in many modest establishments.

Some of the merry wives of Manhattan have discovered that by performing a few minor operations on friend husband's soft collar shirt that they are able to make such garments serve a very practical purpose. The soft-collar shirts men wear are almost the same as the shirt-waists favored by masculine women. With one thing and another the well-dressed man finds it increasingly difficult to keep dressed at all.

Metropolitan of Thessalonica, Here on Mission Of Good Will, Visits Massachusetts Governor

Old Tut-Ankh-Amen Curse Cited By Famous Scientist As Proof of Bible Stories

(By Universal Service)
PARIS, May 18.—The curse of Tut-Ankh-Amen, with its death roll of ten scientists who have disturbed the grave of the Egyptian monarch tends to prove the accuracy of one of the most amazing stories in the Old Testament. This is the opinion of Dr. J. C. Mardrus, translator of the Arabian Nights and of the Koran and himself an authority on Arabian and Egyptian literature.

One month before Lord Carnarvon began his explorations in Tut-Ankh-Amen's tomb, Dr. Mardrus issued a public statement calling the archaeologists' attention to the occult dangers they risked in tampering with Pharaoh's grave. Professor Georges Bonchite, curator of the Louvre Museum and Europe's greatest Egyptologist recently died in Egypt, after studying the excavations in the Valley of the Kings. Professor Casanova of the College de France also died after working at Tut-Ankh-Amen's tomb.

Not Astonishing
"These two latest deaths do not astonish me," Doctor Mardrus declared in an interview. "They are simply two more names on a list that is already long. The series of dramatic events which have occurred since Tut-Ankh-Amen's tomb was opened, tally exactly with the predictions I made two years ago, more than a month before Lord Carnarvon's work began."

"I make no personal pretensions to be a spiritualist, an occultist nor a prophet, although I have studied the secret sciences in my work on Egyptian and Arabian literature."

"But do you personally believe in Tut-Ankh-Amen's curse?" the Doctor was asked.

"It is necessary to admit one thing," Dr. Mardrus answered slowly after some thought. "That is: for more than seven thousand years the Egyptians have practiced magical rites and incantations to guard the tranquility of their subterranean tombs. There is no doubt but that they themselves believe most sincerely in the power of their magic. We find amulets which were filled with mysterious fluids, the exact nature of which we haven't been able to determine."

The Hebrews Are
"Do you remember the Hebrews? Are of the Covenant in the Bible? They took it with them in the flight from Egypt. This is the story taken from an Egyptian temple, was none other than the Arc of the God Amon. According to the Bible the Arc struck down hundreds of priests and Levites who approached too closely. It certainly must have contained some sort of accumulators of a powerful force, unknown in our day."

"It is the curse of the same Egyptian God, Amon, which is supposed to be protecting Tut-Ankh-Amen's tomb today. Let me read you the curse:

"Let he destroyed the hand which is raised against my body! Let he destroyed those who attack my name, my offices or my images."

"Let them be struck down, Oh my Father Amon."

"Let them beware of my father Amon."

"Misfortune comes quickly. He is Convinced"

"Such is my curse. Such is my vengeance, meditated and nursed in the depth of my soul for all eternity!"

Dr. Mardrus was silent for a moment after reading the protective curse of Tut-Ankh-Amen. "I am personally convinced that the Egyptians knew how to condense about their mummy a dynamic force, the nature of which we do not understand."

"We have touched the heart of a mystery. It would be too comfortable simply to meet the mystery with an ironical skepticism. It would be better to recall the words of Pasteur:

"Those who have nothing but clear ideas, are fools. The ancients understood the mysterious power below the surface of things."

Supervisors Award Contracts for Four Miles of Highway

MARTINEZ, May 18.—The county board of supervisors yesterday awarded contracts for four miles of new highways, as the continuation of present paved roads. Bids were opened for the paving of two miles of the Fairview-Peyton link of the shore road and called for bids issued for the paving of over two miles of the country road between the Santa Fe crossing near Avon to Concord. Mrs. Ellen E. O'Brien was awarded the contract for the grading and paving with water bound macadam of two miles of Division No. 25, the Marsh Creek canyon as an extension of the Clayton-Marsh Creek highway for $10,915. C. W. Wood received the $21,329.98 contract for the grading and paving of two miles of Division 41 and the Kaiser paving company will oil and macadamize the Fairview-Peyton road at a cost of $8764.

HOLEPROOF OF ALL FINE HOSIERY OFFERS

5 Unique
Fashion
Features

Plus 31 new Paris colors

NOTE Holeproof's 5 famous style points carefully. Together they safeguard you against imperfect hose. In style—in sheer richness of beauty, this hosiery stands supreme. Through special features smartness is increased to an extraordinary degree. And Holeproof styles are accepted as authoritative.

A few manufacturers of fine hosiery may offer you some of these features, but not one can give them all. By them fashion tells you to judge silk hosiery.

(1) Exquisite clearness. In sheer chiffons, clearness comes only with the use of uniformly even thread. The lack of it in cheaper silk causes unsightly shadow rings. So, at greater cost, Holeproof selects China silk, judged finest of all oriental grades.

(2) Correct Paris shades. Paris authorities select the newest colors. A unique scientific dyeing process keeps them clear and bright. Our anti-fade treatment protects from fading.

(3) Superlative transparency. Even in the heavier weights there is no cloudiness, no streaks. First, the silk is specially tested, then it undergoes the special scientific Holeproof treatment.

(4) No loose ends. Loose threads mar appearance. So Holeproof carefully trims the inside of each stocking by hand.

(5) No imperfections. Style vanishes with imperfections. And here Holeproof safeguards you by nine separate inspections. It is a fact that few other fine hose are so uniform in perfect.

Every Holeproof number has this five-fold fashion safety. Every color is new—every style is faultlessly and fashionably correct.

Youths Admit Stripping Cars

MARTINEZ, May 18.—Three youths were arrested by deputy sheriff J. M. Joseph yesterday and booked on charges of grand larceny. According to Joseph he was returning from Alhambra valley late Monday night when on the road he encountered the three repairing a flat tire on their Ford car.

Joseph declared he had a "hunch" and investigated the car. He declared that he found the tonneau of the car filled with tires for cars, too big for the Ford and a number of speedometers, and several other accessories found only on cars of high price.

Despite the strenuous protests by the boys, Joseph brought them here where the officials say they confessed to stripping a new Star car wrecked last Sunday in Moraga.

The boys gave their names as Donald Kuenan, 19, 522 Carlton street, Oakland; Raymond A. Wetmore, 18, 3077 Clay Street, San Francisco; and John Cerato, 17, 5432 Manila avenue, Oakland. Cerato is a ward of the Alameda county juvenile court and he was taken to the detention home. The other two are being held by the authorities.

Ida M. Tarbell Declares Florida Nearly Wrecked by "Binder Boys"

The late William Jennings Bryan prayed aloud each Sunday in a Miami garden, before 5,000 people, while the "Binder Boys" piled their unscrupulous trade on the outskirts of the same crowd.

Subdivisions, whose only inhabitants were deep sea monsters, found eager purchasers in the vast and gullible crowd which swept into Florida on the wings of the Boom between 1920 and 1925. Prospective farm purchasers were shown soil in office windows which was said to grow crops overnight; millionaires slept in tents; great cities rose from the jungle in a few months; fortunes arose in a day and were lost in an hour—these are some of the vivid pictures of the Florida Boom, as described by Ida M. Tarbell, most famous of women investigators in a series of articles appearing in McCall's magazine.

Miss Tarbell says of the "binder boys", who threatened early wreckage to the Boom:

"There process was interesting, will say, worth $100,000, and a binder boy came along offering you a bigger advance than you had ever dreamed it was worth. He offered you $500.00 as a binder to the bargain for a limited period; then he went out to his work, but his work was not to sell the property; it was to turn over the binder. He would sell it for $750,000, $1,000,000, $1,500,000. With each sale the price of the property was advanced, say $25,000. The inflation was fast and furious—but a bona fide sale was rare—it was the binder which changed hands. And when the binder finally ran out, you still had the piece of property but with a suspicious stain on it—One able gentleman told me that he believed there were 25,000 at least of the gentry in Miami alone!"

This is the dark side of the Florida Boom, sketched by a great journalist. The bright side, the enduring values outweigh this in Miss Tarbell's series.

In these articles, for the first time, are the full glamour and romance of Florida's quick fortunes. One real estate man is shown making $6,000,000 in an afternoon's sale. But the appealing picture is that of little people amassing unexpected riches. The poor, the sick, gathering their little savings to buy a lot in Florida and then hanging on, painfully, with little hope. Then in a matter of days that lot has become the center of a new city; a fortune is offered for it, and its owner finds new hope and health and ease for the first time in a hard life.

Ida M. Tarbell

The author shows the vast migration to Florida to be as picturesque, as moving, as filled with a mighty and creative unrest as the gold rush of '49. The spirit is the same. But the roads to Florida are packed and jammed with automobiles instead of covered wagons, and, instead of Indians, the pioneers must face the "binder boys" and all the slippery gentry who follow in the wake of a boom.

What will be the outcome of the Boom in Florida? Will a steady growth succeed the craze of speculation? Will new and greater fortunes arise on the firm foundation of deflated values? And just where does the small investor stand today?

Miss Tarbell's keen powers of analysis and literary brilliancy have resulted in giving the public what is perhaps the most valuable information on Florida today.

McCoy Faces TWO CHARGES
MARTINEZ, May 18.—B. J. McCoy of Crockett today faces indictment on two counts in connection with the death of Gus Erickson, an aged El Cerrito man. Erickson was truck and killed by an automobile on April 17. The newly impaneled jury late yesterday returned indictments charging McCoy with manslaughter and running away from the scene of the accident in which it is alleged his automobile ran down Erickson on San Pablo avenue. McCoy was arrested shortly after the accident on a warrant charging manslaughter and is free on $10,000 bail. He will be re-arrested under indictments.

Local Youth Gets Diploma from School Of Dentistry in S.F.
Among the dentists receiving their degrees from the University of California at the commencement exercises held in the Scottish Rite auditorium last night in San Francisco, Gerald Meyers, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Meyers, 901 Florida avenue, received his diploma.

Mr. and Mrs. Meyers were present at the graduating exercises when their son received his degree of Doctor of Dental Surgery. Meyers is a former graduate from the Richmond Union high school of the class of 1922.

Convict to Appear Against Wardens
(By Universal Service)
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 18.—On the eve of the grand jury's resumption of its investigation into prison atrocities at Flat Top mines Solicitor Jim Davis tonight announced that Cecil Houston, straw boss lifer, indicted for murder and who is said to have done most of the killings of convicts at the instigation of former Warden Charles R. Davis, will take the stand for the State when Davis and his former Deputy Warden William Bates are placed on trial for first degree murder June 14.

Houston is reported to have told Davis while the latter was visiting him at Kilby prison this week that he had decided to come clean rather than be made a goat of, by Davis and Bates.

The grand jury's full report on prison atrocities which was to have been completed today, is being redrafted and will be ready tomorrow.

Eagles May Attend Aerie in Yosemite
A discussion was held by the Richmond Eagles last night upon the advisability of attending the Grand Aerie to be held in the Yosemite Valley on June 7. If the local lodge decides to attend, delegates will be elected at the next meeting.

Mother's Day was observed last night by the serving of a banquet by the house committee which is headed by Walter Fraatz. This event was held after a large class of candidates were initiated.

Bert O'Loan had charge of the meeting.

CONFER DEGREE
The first degree was conferred upon a group of candidates when the Alpha lodge of Masons met last night in the Masonic temple with E. C. Clarke in charge of the sessions.

SARATOGO ROAD TO BIG BASIN NOW OPEN

The road from Saratoga and Congress Springs into the California Redwood Park, which has been closed for improvement during the past few months has been opened for travel, the Touring Bureau of the California State Automobile Association announced today.

This is a good dirt and gravel road through the Santa Cruz mountains to Big Basin. The road from Felton to Boulder Creek and Big Basin is also open, although a narrow detour of five miles over old road is still in effect.

William B. Nicholl, a resident of Applegate, made a business trip to Richmond yesterday and visited the John Nicholl realty company, of which firm he is a member.

SPORTS

BICYCLING IS FAVORITE SPORT OF THE FRENCH

(By Universal Service)
PARIS, May 18.—Bicycling is the favorite popular sport in France according to a vote taken by the leading Paris sporting paper, l'Auto. Soccer football comes second and swimming third. Rugby football, lawn tennis and boxing follow. Fencing which has long been considered a typical French sport is twelfth in the list. Horseback riding takes thirteenth place. The bicycling fad is spreading rapidly. Roads leading from Paris are so crowded with cyclists on Sunday afternoons, that automobile driving has become difficult. Tourists still rent wheels, or buy cheap bicycles to tour France. Most motorcycles are imported from America and are quite expensive, and consequently haven't driven bicycles from the country roads.

TRACK
Stanford University track and field experts are studying up their shoes and powdering their noses preparatory to leaving on Saturday for the East, where they will go up against the best that the East has to offer when they meet at Cambridge, Mass. Stanford is the national college champion and for the third time this year it will defend its title.

CHARLIE HOFF
Charlie Hoff has now come to the fore and accused a husband and cry about the way he was "brutally mistreated" by the A. A. U. Charlie declares that he is being discriminated against by the officials' refusal to reinstate him, after reviewing evidence, which showed that he was physically unfit to compete at San Francisco.

NAVY AND ARMY
After wrangling for almost six months, the naval academy has decided to play the Army in the annual football game at Chicago. The contract awarding Chicago the game was signed at the academy yesterday by the officials. The contract calls for a stadium seating 100,000 spectators. The army and navy will receive 10,000 tickets while the remaining 20,000 will be sold to the public.

Giddy Flannels Will Be Worn Say Experts

(By Universal Service)
NEW YORK, May 18.—Now it can be told! Spring will soon be a fact instead of a theory. There will be as many different shades of flannel trousers worn as there are taps in a soda fountain and the boys who mix their flavors will mix their trousers. When the time comes, odd trousers have traveled far since elderly gentlemen made them famous as the proper thing to wear on the Sabbath with a tail coat but their mission is entirely at odds with tradition. The young men wear fancy shades of flannel in the summer because they carry a maximum amount of volume for a minimum outlay of cash. In the shade and combinations to be noted this season will be beige, salmon pink, sand, silver grey, powder blue, heavy black stripes on white grounds and an off shade of cream that is lemon-cream, so to speak. The problem of buying for spring and summer wear will be solved in many instances in the trouser departments this season by many of the younger cavaliers. That many of them will pick out a couple of pairs of high-power pants to be worn with odd jackets, now seems to be reasonably certain. Young men hate to be accused of economy but circumstances possess an iron grip at times. Vari-colored pantaloons are likely to popularize blazers to some extent and dark flannel coats in a very large measure. Blazers are not entirely a matter of striped patterns, as is popularly supposed, but instead often feature solid colors in a wide range. Some of these garments have a bit of braid to emphasize their pedigree. Flannel jackets and odd sports coats are sure to be approved by the lads who fight hideous cravings at the soda fountains and aspire to win the near-silver cups in the dancing contests at the summer parks. Primarily, flannel trousers are for sports wear but young America does as it pleases about making the occasion fit the clothes. Very well dressed men will wear perfectly plain white flannels to emphasize their disapproval of the base uses to which an old favorite

French Want Medal for Mlle. Lenglen

(By Universal Service)
PARIS, May 18.—French sportsmen are bombarding their deputies with requests to bring pressure on the government to decorate Suzanne Lenglen with the Legion of Honor. Suzanne is unquestionably the most popular woman in France today.

"The two great women in French history have been Joan of Arc and Suzanne Lenglen," according to one enthusiastic tennis fan. "Lenglen's name and fame have spread from the north to the south pole. She is known where Marshal Foch has never been heard of."

In the meantime the government's economy wave has affected the Legion of Honor. New knights and officers of the Legion will be invited to go to a jewelry store and buy their own decorations. The government can no longer afford to send out the little boxes and red ribbons. Ten million francs a year have been saved by substituting ordinary paper Legion of Honor diplomas for the parchment certificates the Legion formerly used.

Siamese decorations are after all the most interesting, according to diplomatic attache of the French foreign office. His Siamese cross gives him the right to a dozen wives, a white elephant and a bowl of rice daily.

OUTFIELDER MUST HIT OR PAY A FINE

OAKLAND, Calif., May 18.—Every baseball player craves baseballs. But the next time John Fenton, Oakland outfielder with the Oakland Coast League team, goes to bat, he'll swing as he never did before.

Fenton appeared today before police Judge W. J. Hennessy on a charge of driving his automobile over a fire hose. He pleaded guilty.

"I'll suspend judgement," the judge declared, "until the next time you come to bat, and if you get a hit—you'll be free of the charge. If you strike out, you'll get a fine."

Chinese Minister Offered New Post

WASHINGTON, May 18.—Alfred Sze, Chinese Minister at Washington was today in doubt as to accepting the post of foreign minister, offered him in the new Yoo government. He will decide within the next ten days.

Dr. Sze is understood to be in communication with Premier Yen regarding the policies of the new ministry and particularly what attitude he will be expected to take with reference to certain issues. Once before, Dr. Sze was appointed foreign minister and declined preferring to remain in Washington.

is being subjected. They will naturally resort to such garments on the tennis courts and around country clubs after a hard game, thus confining flannel to their proper sphere in the scheme of clothes. But the mayonnaise sandwich trade does pretty much as it pleases and it is perfectly safe to assume that every man who wears flannel trousers, giddy or chaste, this summer will not be a candidate for either golf or tennis championships.

Bouts on Friday Promise to be Outstanding Ones

Billy Harms, who is boxing Curley Fenton here next Friday night at Winters Pavilion, boxes Race Horse Roberts at National Hall, San Francisco, this Wednesday evening. As is usually the case, Harms is giving away about 15 pounds in weight to his opponent as Roberts is weighing around the 170-175 pound mark.

Harms and Fenton recently fought a great battle across the bay. It was a toe to toe slugfest, in which there were knockdowns galore, and resulted with honors about even.

Germany Has Better Food, Reports Say

BERLIN, May 18.—Despite war, inflation and hordes of unemployed, the standard of living in Germany is much higher now than it was before the war.

A statistical handbook just issued by the city of Berlin shows that the per capita consumption of meat has considerably increased. Increased consumption of wheat bread is raising wheat exports and keeping wheat prices high, while rye, the big staple food before the war is going begging.

BUILDING PERMITS

Two building permits were issued yesterday by City Building Inspector E. E. Grow. They included:

A permit to erect a one-story fruit cannery on the east side of Seventeenth street, between the Santa Fe railroad and Chanslor avenue. The cost of the improvements will amount to $1000.

Ben Brignone secured a permit to make alterations on the Columbia hotel building at 106 Standard avenue. The improvements will amount to $250.

PESCADERO CREEK ROAD IMPROVED

The Pescadero Creek road from Pescadero to La Honda in San Mateo county is now in better condition than it has been for some months, the Touring Bureau of the California State Automobile Association announced today. All the mud holes have dried up between Pescadero and the junction of the Alpine road. The road is smooth from that point into La Honda, but is somewhat narrow and requires careful driving.

NARCISSUS IN TROUBLE AGAIN

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, May 18.—The Narcissus is in trouble again. Horticulturists from far and wide gathered here last December to favor and oppose the government's embargo on the narcissus to prevent spread of three devastating bulb pests.

Now barred from importation as an undesirable alien, the narcissus faces a general interstate quarantine to check the spread of the same pests which have appeared in various localities. Just what steps the government will take will be decided at a hearing to be held in Washington June 2. Secretary of Agriculture Jardine announced today.

GERMAN CRUISER AT SAN PEDRO

(By Universal Service)
LOS ANGELES, May 18.—The light cruiser Hamburg, the first German warship to touch Los Angeles harbor in twelve years, arrived at San Pedro this afternoon. The Hamburg exchanged salutes with vessels of the Pacific battle fleet anchored in man-of-war row and after coming to anchor just inside the breakwater, was officially welcomed by Admiral S. S. Robinson and Mayor Cryer.

The Hamburg left Wilhelmshaven several weeks ago on a training cruise, coming directly to San Pedro from San Salvador. After a week here the cruiser will visit San Francisco and thence to Honolulu and the orient.

Condemned Men Abandon Hope Of a Reprieve

(By Universal Service)
CARSON CITY, Nev., May 18.—Senko Jukich and John Randolph, convicted murderers, have given up hope of escaping the death sentence in the lethal gas chamber at the state prison here on Friday morning.

Their appeals for commutation of sentence to life imprisonment will be taken up by the board of pardons which will meet tomorrow. Neither Randolph, convicted of the murder of his aged mother, nor Jukich, slayer of his 16-year-old sweetheart, entertain hope of a reprieve.

Prison official reported that Randolph does not manifest the slightest nervousness. He passes the time reading novels and is occasionally given a soothing prescription.

Jukich, on the other hand, is on the verge of collapse. He paces back and forth in his cell hour after hour. Because of his mental condition, it is feared he may collapse before the hour arrives to place him in the deadly gas chamber.

The two men will sit facing each other as the gas snuffs out their lives. Prison trustees were busy today erecting a small steam heating plant in an adjoining room in the gas chamber. This, it was pointed out, will raise the hydrocyanic acid to sufficient temperature to vaporize at about eighty degrees.

Finance Company To Move Quarters

Sydney S. Clark, president of the Contra Costa Finance and Loan company, announces that the office of the company will move to a ground floor location in the Syndicate building on or about July 1.

Overcrowded quarters in the present location with the Sydney S. Clark Realty company, together with increased business are given as the reasons for the move. The company was formed slightly more than a year ago and has enjoyed considerable financial gain in that time. The officials are high in their praise of Joseph L. Reed, manager of the company to whom credit is being given to a great extent for the present growth.

With the removal of the company from its present location at 715 Macdonald avenue, it is expected that the finance and loan company will expand.

Files Suit Against Daughter to Collect Money Due on Note

Ruling that the wife's residence is the same as her husband, although the couple is separated, but not legally divorced, will form the basis for a change of venue in a suit to collect money said to be due on a note.

Mrs. Mary L. Hardy of San Jose filed a suit against her daughter and son-in-law, Mrs. Ora Merle Veroni and John M. Veroni of Richmond to collect money she alleges is due her. Teh Veronis have been separated since before April 1925, when Mrs. Veroni filed suit for divorce against her husband at Martinez. Judge H. V. Alvarado denied the divorce, but Mrs. Veroni refused to return to live with her husband. She went to San Jose to live with her mother.

Mrs. Hardy contended that since Mrs. Veroni lived in San Jose, she is a citizen of that county and filed the suit in the county court at San Jose. The Superior Court of Santa Clara decided that the wife's residence remained the same as her husband until she was legally divorced from him, therefore the case will be tried in Martinez.

Vernoni is being represented by Attorneys Pierce and Carlson. Mrs. Veroni is being represented by Assistant District Attorney C. W. Moore of Santa Clara county, while Bennett, Hill and Campbell are representing the plaintiff.

Aviation School Here Is Planned

W. A. Sanders, former instructor for the Eastbay aviation school and Ben Torrey, former member of the government fire patrol, will open a school of aviation in Richmond, according to an announcement made yesterday. The school will be located at the present aviation field on the Giant road, three miles north of Richmond, and it is expected that all will be in readiness for the opening of the school within ten days.

Sanders is well known throughout the northern section of the state as a flier and has flown in Richmond on several occasions. Torrey has been with the government a number of years.

The most modern types of equipment are being secured for the field. A Lincoln Standard three-place plane is already on the field and another is on its way from the factory.

Army Private had Good Propaganda

(By Universal Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, May 18.—Francis Copeland, now a prisoner at Alcatraz Island, was a fast worker when it came to making love, according to the divorce complaint filed today by his wife Sada Copeland.

According to the complaint Copeland told his wife that he owned a costly home and automobile in Los Angeles and also a ranch in Minnesota and that he had a large bank account.

They were married on November 18, last year. The day following Mrs. Copeland, according to her complaint, learned that her husband was not the wealthy man he claimed to be, but a buck private on furlough.

Plans for Annual Sunshine Camp Have Been Made

Sunshine Camp, held annually for the benefit of the undernourished children of Contra Costa county at the Shell Oil company's grounds on Marsh creek, will open on June 29, and will close on August 4, according to Mrs. Nora L. Marvance, director of the Richmond Health Center, under whose auspices the camp is held.

From 50 to 60 children can be accommodated at the camp and Richmond's quota is placed at six. J. S. Burnside of Martinez will again be the director in charge.

Children who have home environment and mental qualifications to derive the most benefit from the camp, are given the preference. Vaccinations, operations and dental work will be completed so that the children can enjoy the full benefits of the camp.

CANNING FACTORY STARTS IMPROVEMENTS

THE COLLEGE "BUS BOY" PAYS HIS WAY

By GENE HOFFMAN
(By Universal Service)
CHICAGO, May 18.—Men may not always be judged by their appearance or occupation. In the better class restaurants and cafeterias throughout Chicago's downtown district are hundreds of clean cut, intelligent looking young fellows earnestly engaged in the humble but honest business of "bussing dishes."

A "bus boy" is one who clears off a table and carts the dishes away after the diner has departed. He does not even rank as a waiter. The average waiter regards his profession with dignity, part of which is assumed by "high hating" the lowly bus boy.

"Who are these handsome athletic youths?" visitors unfamiliar with the situation often inquire. "Surely they could find something better to do than this. Why they look like college boys."

And unconsciously the observing visitor hits the nail on the head. That's exactly what they are—college boys. Boys who are rich in ambition, but poor in this world's goods. Our future lawyers, doctors, tradesmen and captains of industry.

By a happy arrangement with restaurant owners, these boys, students of downtown branches of Northwestern and Chicago Universities, Coyne and other trade schools, are able to work two hours each day during the luncheon and dinner rush hours. For their services they receive their own meals free. A big saving to students struggling through college on a limited allowance.

No wide campus to loiter on for these boys; no dances or proms or other social activity. Just work and study.

What kind of help do these boys make? Let Samuel Cooper, owner of the Harmony chain of cafeterias, one of the largest employers of student labor, answer: "Best in the world," says he. "They put into their work the same earnestness that they put into their studies. A lad with grit enough to do this work for an education needs no watching from the boss. He does all he is paid to do and more."

S. J. Kaplan, for three years manager of the Winter Garden where a great number of student "bus boys" were employed, had this interesting observation to make:

"I've often compared the student bus boys with the other help. You know it's remarkable what a great difference intelligence and a little education make, even in the lowly work of hustling dishes. There is a knack in handling dishes and carrying them around without breaking."

The students seldom break dishes, but the other less intelligent employees, do. Why? One thinks the other does not."

And the boys? What are their reactions to this work? None could be found who "was ashamed of his job, anymore than he was ashamed of being poor. On the contrary, they seemed to take a certain pride in it. Humorous situations, sometimes embarrassing, break the work's monotony."

One boy, a Northwestern dental student from a little southern Illinois town, told of running into his best girl, visiting here from home, in the restaurant where he worked. He has not told her he was working his way through school. He doesn't know yet, he said, which of the two was the more embarrassed.

Men to Wear Baby-blue Suits

PARIS, May 18.—Baby-blue serge suits for men is the spring fashion which a prominent tailor near the Etoile is attempting to launch. He claims baby blue clothes for young men are the logical sequence after the pinkish Oxford bags which have been so popular. Coats will be straighter, without waist-line. Trousers will be more full, and long enough to break at the shoes.

One Man Tanks Canning Device For Next War

(By Universal Service)
LONDON, May 18.—Twentieth century warfare is promised a modern mailed knight. But unlike his predecessor of mediaeval times, he will not mount barbed steeds to frighten the souls of fearful adversaries. Instead he twists himself into gasoline driven contraption, surrounded with bullet proof armor.

And in place of the two handed sword and mace, he will control a highly technical and cunningly conceived set of devices which will either eject flames for hand-to-hand encounters, or pound out death dealing bullets at four a second, or fire a 100 to 500 yard range, and rapid firing shrapnel or high explosive shells for the enemy hiding in trenches two to three miles away.

This invention is called the "One Man Tank." Engineering experts from the British War Department have been engaged on this new invention for the past four years and they have made sufficient progress to organize a very still try-out.

The One Man Tank did all that was expected of it. With caterpillar wheels it can crawl along any kind of country; it can mount with difficulty the steepest gradients and can turn and twist within its own length. Like its forerunner in the great war, broken ground, trenches, bushes and small trees present no obstacles to its advance, and the new armor still resists all kinds of attack except, of course, the direct hit of a large high-explosive shell.

To equip an army with the one-man tank is at the present moment a financial impossibility, but the incalculable advantage of the design is that it can be placed in any pleasure or commercial motor car.

So in time of war Britain has only to make her motor cars and equip them with the armor casing and mount the guns and flame and gas ejectors.

However, the commercial end of the motor industry has been called in to make a scheme in which the design is that it can be placed in any pleasure or commercial motor car.

At the moment, the British military mind has visions of mobilizing army from the farming and civilian industries. They feel after the lessons of the mechanical side of the last great war that the nation's security may depend on its capacity to turn tractors into tanks and its industrial strength may be the gauge of its military greatness.

FURTHER EXPERIMENTS
Experiments are also in progress testing the desirability of installing rubber shock wheels to ensure silence in concentrating these tanks for a surprise attack. But that scheme is still in its infancy. Not only would the rubber give silence, but rubber is more immune from an attack of a rain of bullets than steel tires.

The use of these tanks in warfare today would be to use them as mobile advance guards. Their superiority over cavalry for this form of warfare is easily imagined. Not only would they be invaluable from the reconnaissance point of view, but they would constitute a very effective and dangerous fighting force.

Chicago Lays Claim To the Invention of Famous Hair Cut

(By Universal Service)
CHICAGO, May 18.—Chicago does hereby lay claim to the title of "The hair city." For it is here that two of the more famous haircuts have been invented.

The latest is the "half a coconut." The tresses are clipped straight across the brow. Then there is one of those Pay Tinner curves over the cheek and a bandana about the head.

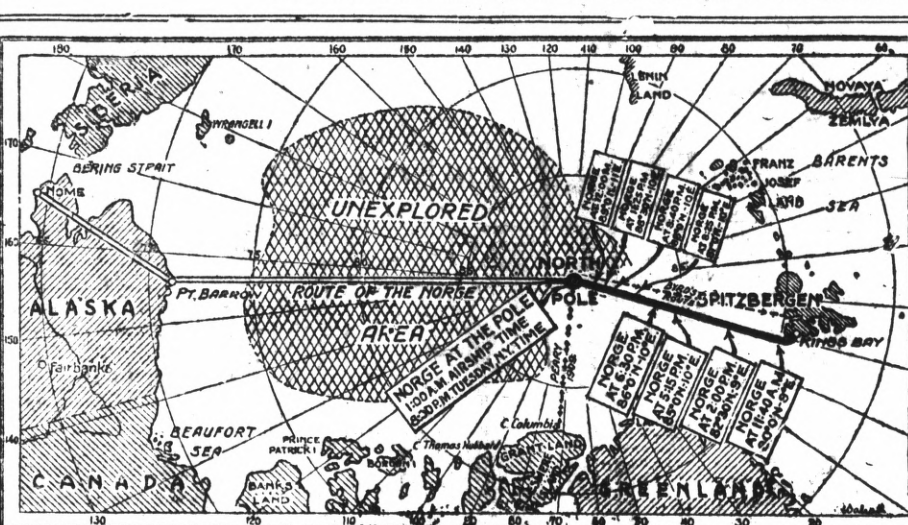

The "Phoelon" also is quite prominent. From the front it looks like an ordinary bob. But when you reach the ear, the hair takes an upward shoot and you are fooled. It is a boyish bob behind.

Czar's Carriage to Be Shown in Movie

(By Universal Service)
MOSCOW, May 18.—The magnificent carriage used by Nicholas I, who was Russian Czar from 1825 to 1895 will again make a public appearance. But this time it will be used in making a proletarian movie, "The Czar and the Peasants." The "Czar" will be a former factory worker.

The setting for the movie will be the summer garden of Czar Nicholas I, who was great grandfather of the last Czar, and known as one of the most autocratic of the Romanoffs.

Germans Get Trade Victory Over Americans in Russia By Extending Great Credits

(By Universal Service)

MOSCOW, May 18.—A victory over American industry is being chalked up by German business men. By granting a 300,000,000 Mark credit ($75,000,000) to Soviet industry, the German banks, backed by the government have insured for German manufacturers, in first place on Russia's trade list for this year.

Both America and England exported more goods to Soviet Russia in 1924 and 1925 than Germany, who up to that time had honor place among those striving for the Soviet market.

The new credit scheme means that Germany is to export to Russia in one year $75,000,000 worth of machinery and manufactured goods, thus trebling its export of 1924, which came to but $25,000,000.

Both Russian and German industrialists say the goods bought on this credit will not interfere with the regular trade between the two countries, but will represent a clear surplus above the ordinary exchange.

Expects Big Increase
Thus German industry feels that this year it can count on an export to Russia which will come near to $100,000,000.

Such a figure would nearly double that of the $58,000,000 export from America to Russia in 1925.

When Germany rushed to conclude an economic treaty with the Soviets in 1921, it seemed that this would clinch for Germany an increasingly rich market which was so desperately needed for the rehabilitation of the Reich. For years, while Soviet industry was getting on its feet, German products led in the market. In 1923, 30 per cent of the goods bought by the new Russian state were German goods.

But a sharp drop occurred in 1924 when Germany's wares only amounted to $23,000,000 or 21 per cent of the entire Russian import for the year.

Blow To Industrialists
This came as a blow to German industrialists who had believed the Soviet market would prove not only a much needed outlet for German goods, but would provide the Reich in turn with cheap materials, once the Soviet state machinery began to function normally. In the first seven months of 1925, Soviet-Russian trade had slipped yet another notch and showed for the first time an inactive trade balance for the Germans.

With this situation, and the terrific economic crisis facing them at home, German banks granted the new long term credits, which were partly guaranteed by the government, to the Soviets.

Chancellor Luther recommended the step as a way out of the industrial standstill which has thrown more than 2,000,000 out of work. It is hoped in Berlin that brisk business with Russia will do much to restore industry and reduce unemployment, thus cutting down the huge hole which the government must pay the

Russia Is Pleased

Russia is well pleased with the arrangement, for her cry for credits has been persistent and long. Already the first shipment of new machinery for the textile factories in Leningrad is being installed. Soviet authorities see in the German credit one more advance in the rehabilitation of Russian industry.

German industrialists are of the hope that the credits will restore the pre-war situation, where German goods held from 40 to 50 per cent of the entire Russian market.

Raw materials from Russia up to the outbreak of the war, always found their nearest and most logical market in Germany. Russian wheat, rye, barley, meats, eggs, lumber, bristles, feathers, petroleum and manganese found 32 per cent of their markets in Germany.

In 1911 Russia exported 250,000,000 in goods to Germany and German export to Russia reached only $240,000,000. In 1913, however, Germany had a $100,000,000 trade balance with Russia. Even in the worst years after the war, the Soviet Union was nearly the only country with which Germany had an active trade balance.

Soviet Petroleum
At the present, the Dawes Plan has made Germany a poor field for Russian products, Soviet economists charge. In 1924 the export of Soviet petroleum products doubled that of the pre-war period. But Germany consumed as her share only one-half the amount of the before the war period.

The chief cause of this drop is to find, Russian economists say in the bad economic situation of Germany and the dependence of post-war Germany on American capital, "which dependence finds its final form in the Dawes Plan. Germany must consume the petroleum, the gasoline and the lubricants of the United States. The German worker and peasant must eat bread made of American flour even though the Russian products are cheaper and better."

"Germany used great quantities of Russian raw stuffs before the war, and now that it has lost its colonies, its industries can only be really restored by turning to the Russian raw material market," concludes one patriotic Soviet economist in his warning to the Germans against "slavery to American capital."

BRITAIN IS SAVED FROM COMMUNISM

(By Universal Service)

LONDON, May 18.—Great Britain has 16,000,000 small capitalists. This fact is disclosed by Walter Runciman, a former financial secretary to the treasury, and is being advanced as the strongest possible argument that Communism or advanced Socialism has no chance in this country.

The position of England is much the same as that of France, where practically every family has some form of investment; but the small stakeholders in this country is in the sounder position because there is no danger of sterling currency losing its value, whereas the franc is held to be in a perilous condition.

Leaving out of account small houses owned or partly paid for, as well as small investments in banks, railroad companies and other joint-stock corporations, there is a grand total of $8,750,000,000 standing to the credit of the sixteen million investors. The Post Office Savings banks holds $1,425,000,000, payments to ordinary life assurance funds amount to $1,700,000,000 and there is $1,500,000,000 invested in provident societies. The remainder of the grand total is held by trustee savings banks, the Government through various State investments, industrial insurance concerns and building societies.

Commenting on these investments, which are held by two-fifths of the people of Great Britain, Walter Runciman says: "These are remarkable figures, and although they are not sufficient to justify anyone stating that property is a thing of the past, they go to prove that there is a much wider distribution of wealth now than at any time in the history of this country, and the capitalists, so far from being restricted to a small circle, now include an ever-increasing number of people."

"Only a minority of the adult population are not to a greater or smaller extent capitalists. The wiping out of private property, if such a thing were possible, would mean such a revolution in the status and rights of the 16,000,000 capitalists included in our population that, apart from the indirect effects of transforming our system of property, it would obliterate the tangible assets of thrift in three households out of four in Great Britain."

Exiles for Three Centuries Return

(By Universal Service)
PRAGUE, May 18.—News from Bratislava describes the return from Volhymia (Poland) of seven-teen families, descended from Czech religious exiles, who, for 300 years, without church or school of their own, but merely the Czech Bible, have retained their Czech tongue and nationality.

PRINCE GOES HUNTING WITH U. S. COWBOYS

(By Universal Service)
LONDON, May 18.—Prince Charles, second son of the King and Queen of the Belgians, is one of a party of young men who are planning an expedition into Central Africa this spring. A feature of the expedition will be a party of American cowboys who are now being collected together by Tex McCleod, the lariat expert, who also expects to go.

The jungles of Tanganyika, the Belgian Congo and the sources of the Nile will be explored, the objects of the expedition being to capture alive various specimens of wild animals and to film them in their natural surroundings.

Another object of the expedition is to show that wild animals can be captured by less barbarous methods than those at present used. The cowboys will experiment with the various methods popular in the United States, which have hitherto been unknown in Africa.

The party, which will number a dozen white men, hopes to leave London for Nairobi at the end of May.

GUARDIAN NAMED

The Superior Court in Martinez yesterday appointed Mrs. Rose Danella of Pinole, the guardian of her two minor brothers, Eugene and Christopher Byron. Attorney Earl Calfee represented the petitioner.

Daughter of Famous Violinist To Appear Soon

(By Universal Service)
LONDON, May 18.—The world will soon hear another Kubelik violinist—Anna, daughter of the famous Jan Kubelik. She is to make her London debut in the summer.

"My daughter and I" says Jan Kubelik, who is now here, "will play a double concerto of Bach together, and as my daughter also plays the viola excellently, we shall also perform a symphony of Mozart's for violin and viola. Then at another concert Anna will play one of my own violin concertos, and I will conduct the orchestra for her."

Anna is one of the famous Kubelik twins. "The other, Marie, is also a fine player," said her father, "but she is going to marry. The twins started their musical studies unknown to myself, for I was in America at the time."

Anna Kubelik is at present finishing at the Prague Conservatory—who has not actually studied the violin with her father—and will make her debut in Prague shortly.

All of Kubelik's seven children are musical, and in the opinion of their father the youngest boy, now eleven, is the most talented of them all. He plays both piano and violin brilliantly.

Asked if so many musicians in one family did not make life somewhat difficult, Kubelik said, "Well, we have seven pianos, but they are well apart from each other. We sometimes even have a family concert."

ADDITIONS TO BUILDINGS ARE BEING RUSHED

Work on the erection of a sixty foot extension to the present buildings of the Kates Block at the foot of Nineteenth street, which have been purchased by the H. K. Foster Canning company will start today, according to H. K. Foster, manager of the company who was in Richmond yesterday.

Included in the improvements of the new company will be a 100 horse power boiler and a 10,000 gallon fuel oil tank. These in addition to other improvements will be under way this morning. Active operation of the plant is to start on July 20, according to Foster, who states that final arrangements for the opening on that date are now being completed.

Peaches will be the first product to be canned in the new plant. The peach pack is expected to run for about sixty days and will then be followed by tomatoes.

Under ordinary circumstances, and in the future the cannery will start in March and run for approximately eight months. The first product to be handled will be spinach and will be followed by asparagus, cherries, apricots, peaches and then tomatoes.

This season on account of the lateness of getting the plant into operation the run will be much shorter than it would be under ordinary circumstances, according to Foster.

FRANCE WANTS U. S. TRADE WITH RUSSIA

(By Universal Service)
PARIS, May 18.—Hopes of securing part of the Russian trade now going to the United States is the bait dangled before the eyes of the French commission for settling the Russian debt, by Rakowski and other members of the Soviet delegation in Paris. The Bolshevik debt mission is angling for an easy settlement and long term credits from Paris banks.

Despite Washington's failure to recognize the Soviet government, Russia spent more than one hundred million dollars in the United States last year according to figures in the hands of the Rakowski delegation. It was admitted by an important commissioner in the Moscow mission, in discussing the matter with Universal Service that all of the Russian imports from America, could not be bought as well in other world markets. Consequently, it is difficult to see how many of this trade could be transferred to France.

The United States imported from Russia raw materials and merchandise valued at only ten per cent of the American exports to Russia. The Amtorg Trading corporation, 165 Broadway, New York is the Soviet government's sales agent in the United States, according to the official in the Rakowski mission.

Henry Ford was one of the most important American exporters to Russia last year. The Ford company demanded 75 per cent cash, and the remainder in short term notes.

The Baldwin Locomotive company carried on long negotiations with the Russians for railroad equipment. The Soviet agents asked long credits, which the Americans refused. Finally the Russians paid cash for the railroad stock, and themselves undertook the shipping and insurance.

The Russian delegates in Paris admit that the Americans are hard beginners and extremely suspicious in their deals with Moscow representatives. The average transaction calls for at least 50 per cent cash and the Soviet agents consider themselves extremely fortunate if they can secure one year credit for the remainder.

Adirondacks Camp Near Greer's Station Likely to Be President's Choice For Summer White House

It is reported in Washington that President Coolidge favors a camp on the Kirkwood estate, near Greer's Station, in the Adirondacks as this summer's White House. This photograph pictures the camp house in the mountains of northern New York.

NAGGING GOOD FOR HUSBANDS SAYS AUTHOR

LONDON, May 18.—"A little healthy nagging will do no harm to a young married man," says Gilbert K. Chesterton, the author discussing marriage problems.

"I have always thought that all the talk about 'freedom' by the 'emancipated' woman was a great nonsense. Marriage is a practical working partnership, and is no more a hindrance to freedom—whatever that may mean in the home—than boots are to walking; though incidentally I think it might have been a great deal better for all of us if the careers of some people had been hindered by marriage."

"Private life is so much more interesting than public life that really adventurous spirits who like a little genuine excitement now and then will look for it in the back parlor rather than in the House of Commons or on the Welfare platform."

"Marriage is a great adventure which asks of us high chivalry and often despairing courage. I suppose that is why so many modern people call it a hindrance."

Skulls Too Tight For Brain Give Death Complex

By LAURA PATRICK

MOSCOW, May 18.—A fantastic theory of the cause of sudden death, suicide, and defenselessness in the face of accident, was advised at a medical conference here by the well-known specialist Doctor A. E. Krukoff.

A degenerated skull with the bones of uneven thickness, and in some places so thin they have the transparency of a sheet of paper, has been found in so many autopsies of persons who have died suddenly from unknown causes that it has led Doctor Krukoff to believe this to be the main peculiarity of such skulls, according to the Russian scientist, the fact that they are often not of sufficient size to encase the brain without structure and compression.

The size of the brain has nothing to do with the efficiency of its functions, he claims. He gave as an example the weight of the brain of a celebrated professor on whom an autopsy was being performed at a clinic at the same time the body of a cabman was undergoing dissection. The brain of the professor was found to weigh 1,350 grams, while that of the cabman weighed 1,540 grams.

The tightness with which the brain fits into the skull is responsible for many puzzling developments, according to Dr. Krukoff. This abnormality might not call out any definite sick symptoms, but it is because of it that many suicides and accidents occur; as well as sudden deaths from unknown causes, of persons who have, to all appearances been quite normal.

To illustrate the point where compression of the brain led to a slow defense against accident Krukoff gave the case of a young girl killed under the wheels of a motor truck. She had been one of a group that had run out of a door and started across the street. Seeing the truck the others turned back, but the victim wavered, and then kept ahead.

She was killed and upon dissection it was found that her brain was too large for the enclosing skull.

This abnormality caused a tendency to improper orientation, and a lack of decision in time of danger, the specialist said.

Vienna Aflutter Over Engagement

By O. D. TOLISCHUS

(By Universal Service)
BERLIN, May 18.—Vienna society is aflutter over the report of an engagement between Archduchess Margaret of Habsburg, daughter of the former Archduke Leopold Salvator, and Baron Groedel.

Though Groedel is a baron, he is the son of an industrialist whose family has been knighted only very recently, and under the sway of Emperor Franz Joseph, such an engagement would have caused a court scandal.

Since the war, however, humorous Habsburgs have gone into business and trade and the engagement causes now merely a flutter.

The Archduchess Margaret has been known for her democratic ideas, even under the old regime. When out of curiosity her father and his family took orchestra seats in a theatre one time instead of going to the royal box, her father remarked:

"Curious, one sees and hears here much better than from the royal box."

"I'm afraid that's true not only of the theatre but of life as a whole," Margaret replied.

LEAGUE'S AID IN RULING AUSTRIA ENDS THIS YEAR

(By Universal Service)

BERLIN, May 18.—The first great task which the League of Nations undertook—the financial and economic "sanitation" of Austria—will be completed toward the middle of this year when Austria submits to the League its balance sheet for 1925.

When this balance sheet is approved, Austria will have again become free and independent in political and financial matters. The far-reaching control, which the league's receiver for Austria Dr. Zimmerman, exercised since 1922, practically ended with the beginning of this year.

The success of this league experiment is still a great subject for debate.

There are some who see in Vienna still the "Dying Fairy City," the "City of Beggars," and who predict that Austria is doomed to die of slow starvation because it cannot exist as an independent political or economic unit.

Ramek Calls It Success

This is not, however, the opinion of Dr. Ramek, the chancellor of Austria. He, on the contrary, considers the league action a great success for which "Austria owes deep gratitude to the league" and which "has greatly strengthened the international importance of the League of Nations."

"We owe it to this action and to the financial and economic improvement which it brought us, that we are again able to pursue an independent foreign policy free from obligations to anyone, and that we have been able to accomplish our most important national task; the task of restoring to the Austrian people the capacity to live and to face the future with confidence."

In these words Dr. Ramek summed up the results of the league's program at a Press reception during his visit in Berlin recently.

Aid From Germany

While paying tribute to the sympathy and aid from Germany, Dr. Ramek carefully abstained from mentioning the problem undermost in every German mind, namely, the union of Austria and Germany. And in interviews and private conversation he made it clear that this union, depending upon the consent of the League of Nations, was impossible for the present. As this union is based on the assumption that Austria is not able to live by itself, Dr. Ramek's assertion of Austria's "capacity to live and to develop" was doubly significant.

The league's program was laid down in the Geneva protocol of October 4, 1922. What the league has done for Austria, Dr. Ramek summarized as follows:

"We received an international loan whose mere announcement was sufficient to stabilize our currency."

"In less than a year we had balanced our budget, and that without exhausting the loan."

Credits Available

"The unused part of the loan was employed for new investments and to aid private business. Considerable credits for these purposes are still at our disposal."

The success in governmental finance, however, has not been equally in the national economy. Dr. Ramek said, because of lack of capital and the fact that Austria's industrial machinery, designed for the needs of 15 million people, was suddenly confined to the internal market of a little more than six million. The result has been a large amount of unemployment.

"To meet this problem," Dr. Ramek said, "the government has done that which always makes governments unpopular with its people:

"We have saved, and saved again and then we have gone to the utmost limit in saving."

The result, he said, was that taxes could be reduced and the whole tax system reformed.

His present aims, Dr. Ramek said, was, first, to convert the dangerous and expensive short-term credits into long-term credits and second, to gain larger markets through trade treaties and tariff agreements.

NEW MELONES POWER HOUSE

Architect's drawing of the new Melones Power House now being erected by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company on the Stanislaus River, East of Oakdale. The Oakdale and South San Joaquin Irrigation Districts recently voted $2,200,000.00 in bonds for the construction of a dam two hundred feet high.

The districts impound water and sell it to the Power Company for power generation, after which it will go into the irrigation ditches and canals. The payment by the Power Company for the water will retire the district's bonds and pay the interest during the life of the bonds.

The power house will cost $2,500,000 and have an installed capacity of 30,000 horsepower.

Universe is Ruled By Love; No Need for Gloomy Death, View of Sir Oliver Lodge

By SIR OLIVER LODGE

Eminent Scientist, who is also leading Spiritualist, below describes Death as "only an episode."

Special to Universal Service

LONDON, May 18.—There is no need for the subject of Death to be gloomy. When a youth emigrates his relatives cannot help being sad, but they hope he is starting a bright, useful and prosperous career. Death is in the nature of an adventure; there is the pathos of parting, but there is hope and joy also.

To understand death we must know what life is. It is not a form of energy, but a guiding, directing principle. It uses energy and matter, but does not itself seem to belong to the physical frame of things at all. It is like the influx of something from outside, as if we were tapping an infinite reservoir of life, which by proper arrangement can be brought to interact with matter for a time and then depart whence it came.

Under the influence of life things are produced which otherwise would not have occurred, from a seashell to a cathedral, from a firefly to an electric arc, from the song of a cricket to an oratorio. Life does not exert force but contrives that force is exerted and things are moved. Also life hopes and loves.

PSYCHIC ATTRIBUTES

It has any number of psychic attributes which do not belong to the physical frame of things. In order that life may interact with matter it is provided with a body. A body is a mode of manifestation, as is an instrument to musicians. There is a form which I believe persists.

Is it likely that psychic element which plans, wills, hopes, contrives, loves and designs is limited in its mode of manifestations, its activity, to a certain chemical compound, especially albumen? The idea is absurd. Life may have an infinity of modes of action. At present we know of only one kind of body, made of matter, but there are other things besides matter even in the physical universe.

There is ether of space, and it is quite conceivable—indeed I think it likely, but that is speculation at present—that we may have instruments in the future made of ether, made of some other substance than matter. Death is separation of soul and body, the psychic and the material. Death is not inevitable to the whole body.

Cells Still Live

Unicellular organisms divide and continue. In human beings, in addition to this sort of permanent cells there are somatic cells, which are accreted into limbs, viscera and other organs; these are sloughed off and get rid of by chemical processes. We should try to regard these processes with intelligence, not emotion. It saves a lot of trouble when we do not regard unnecessary things with emotion. The body is transmuted, not stored. The "dead" is not dead but alive. They do not enter the grave.

Do not regard the grave with emotion. Think about it as little as possible. There has been too much superstition about graves. I have never been to see my Raymond's grave in France. He has asked me not to. He says: "I take no interest in that grave; I never was in a grave in my life."

If people would get over the trouble about interment, the medieval superstition of lying in a grave waiting for a general resurrection, they would begin to regard death as what it is, an adventure, an episode, something to be welcomed when it comes, not to be afraid of.

Our Future State

As to the future state, those who have passed over tell us that they have something else, solid, substantial, something better than their old bodies. They are pleased; they say they would not come back for anything.

As to space, I do not know about that. They tell us they are all around about us. The conditions of the universe are unchanged by death. Now we are aware of one set of things; by death we become aware of another set of things.

How do we know that these people still exist? I cannot doubt it, for I am in frequent touch with them. You cannot doubt the existence of people with whom you talk, even if only on the telephone or by wireless. They continue. Love bridges the chasm. Love has restored the sense of communion across the gulf of death. Looking at the matter with the cold eye of science, there is nothing to be said against that and much to be said for it. To the best of my scientific belief what I am saying is the truth—that life is a permanent thing. Whether we shall be happier depends on what we do here, what we make of our opportunities. We have to go on; we may go up or down.

The universe is great and splendid beyond our imagination. Let us not take a pitiful, mean outlook. Nothing is too great or too good to be true. We cannot imagine things better than they are. The more you penetrate into the secrets of nature the more overwhelmed you are with the "wonder, love and praise." Our present existence upon the planet is but an episode, a temporary adventure to be followed by higher and further adventures. Do not fear. Fear is torment. "Perfect love casteth out fear." The universe is ruled by perfect love. That is my message.

ALIEN REGISTRATION IS NOT UNREASONABLE

In defending the proposal of Secretary of Labor Davis for the registration of aliens, the National Republic editorially declares that the move is naturally opposed by many people in America who do not have the best interests of the nation at heart. In Europe, it is stated, there is the strictest supervision of aliens, and most of those opposing the move in this country are the dupes or tools of European radicalism. The editorial says in part:

"For obvious reasons the proposal of Secretary of Labor Davis that aliens be registered is vigorously opposed by aliens who are in the country through violation of the immigration laws and by interests engaged in 'bootlegging' immigrants into the country. It is also opposed by communists, socialists and self-styled 'liberals' in sympathy with them, who fear the apprehension and deportation of alien agitators engaged in carrying forward the bolshevist plot to overturn the American government by violence. To these must be added some deluded sentimentalists more concerned about the individual hardship the enforcement of such a law might impose upon aliens, than about the safety and welfare of the American government.

"Every alien legally in this country has opportunity to become an American citizen, thus escaping any hardship that might be involved under the proposed law in the necessity of registration and the payment of the tax of ten dollars, and of $3 a years for every child between the ages of sixteen and twenty-one years. Registration involves no greater hardship for those entitled to be in the country than is imposed by law upon every American citizen who owns an automobile or a dog, calling for a process or registration and payment of a fee. The unnaturalized alien has come to this country in every case where his errand is legitimate, for the purpose of improving his economic condition; to share the better standards of wages and living this country affords. As compared with the benefits thus secured, the fee proposed is a small one."

SECRETARY WORK HAS REAL JOB

Secretary work of the Department of the Interior had a big task before him when he undertook the work of the department and the necessary re-organization.

The Interior Department is a diversified service touching many peoples. The Eskimo of the Arctic Circle and the Hawaiian of the South Seas, the red man and the white, the pioneer and the tourist, the stockman and the irrigationist, the developer of natural resources the veteran of wars, the sick in mind and body, the boy and the girl in school.

All are influenced in their daily lives by the policies of the Secretary of the Interior.

To these responsibilities is added the duty of safeguarding the natural resources of the public domain, which means securing the government's share, running into many millions of dollars annually, from oil, coal, potash and other mineral leases on the public domain, the disposition of agricultural homesteads to settlers, selling high-priced townsites in Florida, running a railroad in far-off Alaska, caring for 2,000,000 visitors annually in the national parks and protecting the health and social welfare of 225,000 American Indians.

There are twelve bureaus or offices in the Interior Department and 13,000 employees located in every state of the Union, and the territories of Alaska and Hawaii. This number includes 726 engineers,

Some Pages from American History

By VICTOR MORGAN

LEWIS' AND CLARK'S EXPEDITION

The year after acquiring the Louisiana territory, the president sent out an expedition under Lewis and Clark to explore the new country.

They started out from St. Louis, then but a little village of log cabins, and worked their way up the Missouri in boats until they reached the "Gates of the Rocky Mountains." This is a tremendous cleft in the rocks where the river bursts through, near where Helena, the capital of Montana, is now situated.

It had taken Lewis and Clark a year to get this far—twelve hundred miles from St. Louis. Making their way across the mountains they found a stream flowing westward. They launched their canoes and floated down until they reached a broad and more rapid river. When they came to its mouth they found themselves within sight of the Pacific ocean. They had descended the Columbia river, which Captain Robert Gray of Boston had entered from the Pacific a few years before.

When Lewis and Clark returned to St. Louis, they had been absent nearly two years and a half, and had travelled in all over eight thousand miles, in boats, on horseback and on foot.

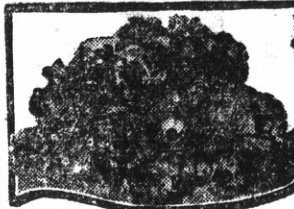

No modern book of travel is more interesting than the account of Lewis' and Clark's remarkable expedition. It gave the people of the United States their first idea of the fabulous wonders of the Far West, its immense extent and unlimited natural wealth.

The most important result of the expedition was the fact that it enabled the United States to claim the Oregon territory, which Captain Gray had entered, but which Lewis and Clark first really explored.

John Jacob Astor, of New York, established a fur-trading post called Astoria, at the mouth of the Columbia river, five years later.

Nature's Oddities

The farmer's progress in mastering nature for the use of man is strikingly shown in a series of horticultural research studies by the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation.

XIII. COLLARDS

Collards and cabbages are the "Mutt and Jeff" of the vegetable world. While the cabbage never gets its head off the ground, its brother collard shoots up to a height of six or eight feet. In fact, in Europe the tall thick stalks are used to make walking sticks.

In this country, though, you would have to go south to pick your walking stick out of the ground, because collards grow there in place of the cabbage which cannot stand the heat. The collard does not have a firm head but instead loose tufts, like leaf lettuce. These should be lightly tied together, as the bleaching which result makes their flavor more delicate.

Collards are cooked like spinach and other greens and like them are healthful for their mineral content.

Daily Fashion Hint

VERY ALLURING

Respeaking the youthful fascination that is embodied in all of the French frocks for evening, this model in crepe Roma is unusually alluring. It is shirred at the front and over the hips, and trimmed with metal braid. The back suggests the bustle effect which, it is predicted, will be returned to fashionable favor ere long. Medium size requires 3 1/2 yards 40-inch crepe.

Pictorial Review Printed Pattern No. 2976. Sizes, 14 to 18 years and 34 to 42 inches bust. Price, 45 cents.

LACK OF THRIFT ONE CAUSE OF CURRENT CRIME

By S. W. STRAUS,
President American Society for Thrift

MUCH is being said at present about the prevalence of crime and most serious thought is being given both to its causes and its possible solution.

Lawlessness is due to a combination of causes and for this reason there must be a combination of curative developments before any pronounced change for the better takes place.

It cannot be denied that lack of thrift in many cases has led directly to acts of violence. It has been noted that many of those who have resorted to forgery and theft as a means of securing quick and easy funds were first led from the paths of right living through habits of extravagance.

Instead of cultivating sensible practices and living sane and moral lives, these persons allowed themselves, step by step, to get into ways that required more money than they were earning, that dissipated their ambitions and rotted their moral fibre.

There is nothing more stabilizing than consistent thrift. Those who practice it not only have the advantage that comes with the conservation of their material resources, their health and their energies, but they have also the advantage of sane judgment and normal viewpoints upon the problems and responsibilities of life.

In our efforts to stem the tide of crime, which, in many places, has reached such a condition that special committees of investigation have been appointed, a great amount of constructive good could be accomplished through the encouragement of thrift.

There is an inter-relationship between sound economics and sound morals. Moral betterment must depend always on thrift as an essential of its progress.

Over in India it is against the law for a widow to re-marry. This probably induces the ladies to take mighty good care of their husbands.

The third business man who used to go to a musical comedy in the evenings to get rested up now does it by knocking off at one o'clock for the golf links.

A beer war has been started in Vienna because the price has been raised from ten to eleven cents a quart—which ought to make the bootleggers in America laugh out loud.

FOR A PICTURESQUE CLUB-DANCE COSTUME, COPY RAGGEDY ANN'S

A Dress and an Apron Comprise the Outfit of This Interesting and Popular Character

By MONA MULLEN

IF IT be a 'pitcher' dress that ye be seeking, why not copy mine?" asks Raggedy Ann. And certainly nothing could be found that would create more astonishment than Ann's garb, which consists of a dress and apron, the dress in bright-colored crepe or percale, and the apron in white muslin.

Ann is quite Raggedy, but somewhat dainty. Her frock should be as pretty as it is possible to make it through the selection of colorful fabric, and her apron should be spotlessly white and neat. Bear in mind the fact that she is "all dressed up" for the party. Do not select materials that are too costly, because that would be out of keeping with Ann's station in life.

As most heads are bobbed nowadays, it would not be difficult to tie the locks in little patches with tiny ribbon bows, so that they would stand out all over the head. Topsy fashion. White cotton gloves should be worn, with striped stockings and canvas shoes. The sleeves are long and very full, the lower edges being gathered into narrow wristbands. The top of the apron is gathered and attached to a narrow yoke. If preferred, the shoulder straps could be of contrasting color and material.

Now, sometimes it happens that Ann may want to make her apron or her frock look pretty, "like other girls." In such event, she could add a border of embroidery to the apron, working it in one-stitch in a jumble of colors.

The motif pictured may serve many other purposes than the decoration of Raggedy Ann's wardrobe, however. The colors to be used are stamped on the transfer, which comes for both light and dark materials. It furnishes two motifs 6 1/2 inches wide that are admirably adapted to the decoration of the new season's sleeves, but which may also be cut apart and used separately.

Raggedy Ann Costume for Ladies and Misses.

Embroidery No. 13040—For Sleeves or Other Purposes

225 regular and part-time physicians, 322 nurses and 147 lawyers. Appropriations for conducting the department amount to about $250,000,000 annually.

Such is the conglomerate picture that faces the newcomer to the interior portfolio, and when Secretary Work undertook the re-organization of the department at the request of President Harding, he found these various activities to be operating almost independently of the secretary and without a dominating policy to insure good administration, and then comes the Colorado problem.

Gall Bladder Troubles Gone!
To Whom It May Concern:
For over a Year I had trouble in my gall bladder, pain on my right side, vomiting and a general rundown condition. On January 23rd of this year I had an attack of appendicitis, the pain of which was so severe that I could not sleep at night. I came to see the Chew & Chew herbaria and after taking one dose of herbs I was greatly relieved. I continued to take the herbs for a few more weeks and I am all well now. March 14, 1926.
